FROM FRENCH PAPERS.

PARIS, 16th PRAIRIAL (JUNE 4.)

EXAMINATION OF BABOEUF.

This 21st day of Floreal, in the 4th year, before us Charles Cochon, was brought citizen Babœuf, of whom we asked the following questions, viz. his names, age, profession, place of nativity and of residence.

To which he answered, he was named Gracchus Babœuf, aged 34 years, born at St. Quentin, in the department of L'Aisne, editor of a newspaper, generally dwelling at Paris, No. 21, rue de fauxbourg Honore, in the section of the Elyman fields, but lately in several different parts of the commune of Paris.

Q. What is the title of the paper you have lately edited?

A. "The Tribune of the People," by Gracchus Babœuf.

Q. How many numbers of this Journal have you published?

A. Since the month of Vendemaire to this day, I have published from No. 34 to No. 43.

Q. On what day did No. 34 appear?

A. The 5th Floreal.

Q. Have you not preached in your Journals, the re-establishment of the constitution of 1793, and the annihilation of that of 1795?

A. I always preached in favor of liberty and against tyranny.

Q. Was it not your wish to overthrow the present government? And was you not associated with several persons to effect it?

A. Convinced that the present government was oppressive, I would have done every thing in my power to overthrow it—I was associated with all the democrats of the republic, but it is not the part of an honest man to name them.

Q. Do you acknowledge that the seal of brass shaped in the form of a long square, with a handle of black wood, and on which a level, and the words "Public Safety" were engraved, was found in your house when you was arrested? Does this seal belong to you?

A. It was the sign known in the correspondence of the numerous coalition of the democrats, who all detest, like myself, the dreadful oppression under which the French people groan.

Q. What were the means you intended to employ for the overthrow of the present government?

A. All the means which might be lawful against tyrants.

Q. Was it not your intention to cause the murder of the members of the two legislative bodies, of the executive directory, and of the constituted authorities?

A. I have no details to give on the means which might have been employed—besides, they did not rest with me alone, I only had a vote in the council of the Tyrannicides—the destruction of the oppressive government, murder aside, would have been sufficient.

Q. Are you acquainted with the citizens Ricord Laignelet, Robert Lindet, and Vadier, ex-members of the Convention?

A. I have no answer, no information to give on any circumstance that does not individually respect myself.

Q. Do you know the citizens Rognol, Manfard, Germain, Darthe and Didier?

A. My answer is contained in the one made to the preceding question.

Q. Was you not in Honore street, in a house near Vendome square, in company with some of the citizens above named?

A. I do not know why the man who interrogates me, supposes me so weak of understanding as not to be capable of perceiving the insidiousness of this question, and that it repeats the preceding questions, which, or similar ones, I had declared I should not answer, because I think I ought not to explain any thing that does not personally relate to me.

Q. Had you not fixed on to-morrow the 22nd, as the day on which the insurrection was to break out?

A. It did not belong to me to fix the time on which any insurrection ought to break out—had it depended on my wish alone, the first favorable moment would have been seized for the overthrow of tyranny, and delivering the people from the miseries that overwhelm them.

We then presented him a pasteboard box, tied with strings, sealed with the seal above described, and having called on him to declare, if he acknowledged this box as his, and whether the seal on it affixed is the same that was set to it in his presence, at the time he was arrested. He acknowledged that the box was his, and that the seal was entire. He then broke the said seal.

We then asked him if he acknowledged the papers, inclosed in the box, as belonging to him, and to have been found in his room at the time of his arrest. He acknowledged them as his, and to have been found in his room at the time aforesaid.

Q. Among those papers, are there any written by you?

A. This will appear in a proper time and place.

Q. Did you compose any other pieces besides the "Tribune of the People"?

A. No.

The present interrogatory having been read to him, he has declared his answers to be true and sincere, that he persists in them—and signed with us.

Additional Examination of Babœuf.

On the 22d Floreal, we have caused Babœuf to be brought from the Abbaye, and to appear before us Minister of the Police.

We broke the seal which had been fixed yesterday, and immediately proceeded to the examination of the paper contained in the said box; in the presence of the said citizen Babœuf.

In the first place we found 47 printed papers and journals, by different authors, which were marked and noted by us and the said Babœuf.

We then found a printed notice, entitled "The Insurrectional Committee of Public Safety to the People," containing 21 articles. On being asked if this paper had been composed by him, and printed by his direction? he answered "No." We then asked him if he would sign it ne varietur, with us—he answered "Yes," and immediately affixed thereto the initial letter of his name.

Pieces found in the possession of the conspirators, lately arrested in Paris—and published by authority.

The Insurrectional committee of Public Safety, considering that by the insurrection of this day, all civil and military authorities established by tyranny are no more.

Considering that it is of the utmost necessity to put in activity all the brave defenders of the Rights of the People, to watch over their interests, and keep their enemies within due bounds.

Decrees as follows:

Art. 1. The Revolutionary committees are restored as they were on the 8th Thermidor, 2d. year. The citizens who composed them are to assemble themselves immediately at their former places of meeting: and they will give an account of their installation to the Insurrectional committee within an hour.

2. Citizen — is appointed our General agent of Police, in the place of the Bureau central of the Police of the Commune of Paris.

3. The Revolutionary Committees shall correspond with the said General agent—who shall do the same with the Insurrectional Committee, from whom he will receive his order.

4. The Insurrectional Committee nominates Citizen — General in chief of the army of the interior, and of the armed force of Paris—He is ordered to put himself at the head of the troops and of the people instantly, to execute the orders of the committee.

PRINCIPAL INSTRUCTIONS.

The manifesto of insurrection shews generally the most essential operations: We have however thought it necessary to give you some instructions on the details which you will combine with the military plan, and that of the general execution.

As it is said in the manifesto: at the very instant of its publication, the assemblies of each district shall meet at the place of general assembly in disorder, and by the sound of the tocin (alarm-bells) and trumpets under the conduct of the patriots, to whom the insurrectional-committee shall have confided banners, with the following inscriptions.

1st. Banner. Constitution of 1793, Equality, Liberty, General Happiness.

2d. Banner. When the government infringes on the Rights of the people, Insurrection is one of the most indispensable duties of the people—or a part of them.

3d. Banner. Those who usurp the sovereignty, ought to be put to death by freemen.

The Generals of the people will be distinguished by three coloured ribbons floating visibly round their hats.—To have the gates and the river well guarded, and not to suffer any person whatever to depart the city without a formal and special order from the committee of Insurrection.—To seize the Directory and the two Councils, and judge them on the spot.—To take possession of the national treasury, the mint, the Post-Office, and all public or private magazines of provisions or military stores.—To seize the ministers, the general of the interior, the temporary commandant, and the staff.—To kill on the spot every director, administrator, deputy, judge, officer or publicfunctionary whatever who may come forward to give orders, or to exercise any authority.—To arrest every Deputy or Director who may appear in the streets, and to conduct him to his post for immediate trial.—To exterminate all opposers—also those who might beat the general: as this is a government call, the people shall not use it—only the tocin and trumpets.—To exterminate also every President Secretary, commandants of the armed force of the conspiracy of Vendemaire, who in like manner may be found in the streets.

Certified to be a true copy.

From a Maryland Paper.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES.

THERE are prevailing in this country two parties of very opposite sentiments. But without tracing them thro' all the distinctions by which they have respectively been known, it is sufficient to observe, and it is greatly important for every citizen to be informed, that one party is exerting all its endeavours to involve the United States in the calamities of war, and that the other party is wisely, and I trust successfully, employed in preserving our peace and happiness. To men, well acquainted with the true situation of our public affairs, this information is unnecessary; but too many of the people are inattentive to political objects, and appear unconscious of their danger.—Being themselves in the possession of all the blessings which a good government wisely administered, has bestowed, they do not imagine that turbulent and seditious men surround them, and labour to destroy their repose. And yet the better to deceive them into this fatal security, these turbulent and ambitious men borrow the language of patriotism, and hypocritically assume the character of patriots. But these blessings, dear and interesting as they are, are held at present by nothing but a thread: For while the war rages in Europe, be assured the situation of this country will remain imminently critical. The continuance of that terrible war, famous for the destruction of man, keeps alive the hopes of this malignant party; and they still expect, by artifice and fraud, to make us partake in all its horrors.

Let those, then, who are really the friends of peace, look around them, and make themselves inquisitive about the temper and character of every candidate for office: The ensuing elections for members of the House of Representatives in Congress will require all the caution and fortitude of which the human mind is capable. Citizens, be careful how you dispose of your suffrages—Pause for a moment, and consider how you turn out, and how you put in. Inquire minutely into the public conduct of those who have served you already: Do not judge of them by this: that particular instance, but by the general tenor and complexion of their political actions. If you find that your member has sided with the partizans of war, and has fought to "stop the wheels of government" and embarras the honest views of our worthy President, turn him out without respect to his person, and elect the friend of peace. If on the contrary, your present member has invariably supported the measures of peace, and united his endeavours to preserve amity between the United States and other nations, be sure to run no hazard—be sure to re-elect him;—you are certain by repeated trials that he is a friend to your prosperity and happiness; and from the proofs he has given of his firmness and fidelity you may safely depend upon his future exertions for the same desirable ends.—By a change, the prosperity of our country may be hazarded, and our rights and liberties may be swallowed up in the terrors of a sanguinary revolution. But a prudent people, like a wise individual, should put nothing so valuable at stake.—They should never give up a CERTAINTY for an uncertainty.—Citizens, attend! Let PEACE be the watch-word of your safety.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECHES, &c.

During the last week was published, a volume containing the speeches of the President to the Senate and House of Representatives of Congress, since the establishment of the federal government; the addresses delivered to him on his first appointment as chief magistrate of the Union, with his answers; his circular letter to the governors of the several states, and his farewell orders to the armies of America. It is a neat compact book, compiled and arranged with much judgment. It is an additional record of the chaste, patriotic and moral sentiments of the illustrious character who presides over our interests. Let every one possess himself of a copy, and the firmest Federalist would wish for no more thorough refutation of any aspersions his character may receive, than a recurrence to its pages would ensure. Let the timid, doubting republican, whenever the clouds of suspicion overshadow his confidence in Washington, open the volume now offered to the public—and the full ray of truth will irradiate his mind, and confirm his FAITH in his POLITICAL DELIVERER and SUSTAINER.

The lords having heard the proofs read and advocates and proctors on both sides thereon, by Interlocutory decree pronounced for the appeal, reversed the sentence appealed from, and retained the principal cause; and therein admitted the claim of the ship and cargo, pronounced the ship to have belonged as claimed, and directed the same to be restored, or the value thereof paid to the claimant for the use of the owners and proprietors thereof: but directed further proof to be made of the property of the cargo; and decreed a monition against the captors to bring in an account of sales upon oath, together with the proceeds of the sale of the ship and cargo.

FROM

OF THE

CITY OF GLASGOW

TO

CAPTAIN JOHN HODGE,

OF THE

In testimony of their high sense of his humane and hazardous exertions,

IN SAVING

THE LIVES OF 160 BRITISH SAILORS AND SOLDIERS,

FROM ON BOARD

THE AUKORA TRANSPORT

WHEN SINKING,

FEBRUARY,

1796.

This Vase is of excellent workmanship—ornamented with Oak and Olive leaves, &c.—beautifully chased and frosted.

If a representation of facts to the British government would not produce a severe punishment of Capt. Pigot, it will be because heaven has doomed this administration to persist in madness, till they have extirpated from the earth the last remains of attachment and respect among foreign nations, the British government, and make the tyranny of their officers as odious to the remotest nations, as it is to the Americans.

(N. Y. Min.)

By a letter from Dublin, we have information that the Defenders had obtained a footing in that city—but that the exertions of the government had got them under. Government had prosecuted the delinquents—some of whom had been executed, and there are some yet under sentence of death. There are among them young men of respectable connections. Some people scruple not to say that the people in power used very undue means to procure conviction against the unhappy sufferers.

The Lord Mayor and Aldermen presented an eminent Carver and Gilder with thirty pounds worth of plate, for giving a good character of a witness against these people, who is his journeyman, and suspected of giving false testimony. A Frenchman by the name of Le Blanc, and a gentleman who has lately written an historical tragedy in this country, are the persons suspected of being the beginners of Defenderism in Dublin. Le Blanc has escaped the vigilance of government, as well as the above gentleman. [Salem Gazette.]

From a Kingston Paper of July 2.

We understand that some of the emigrant corps lately arrived at Martinico, have manifested such a disposition to desert, as to induce the commander in chief to order several of those regiments home.

PHILADELPHIA, AUGUST 11.

A passenger ship arrived at Wilmington a few days since. This vessel is about 250 tons burthen, yet she brought out 520 passengers. Great complaints have been made of the inhuman treatment these emigrants met with from the captain. The ship was so crowded that there was no room for the stowage of the chests; but the ingenuity of the captain suggested the expedient of knocking every second one to pieces and making firing of it. The owners of the others were obliged to receive the things belonging to their neighbours. The first four days of their voyage they had no provisions of any kind served out to them; and during the rest of their voyage they were starved upon three pints of oat meal and four biscuits for nine days. On the arrival of the vessel at Wilmington, 48 of the passengers had been buried and the ship was in such a state of contagion as to induce the magistrates of that borough to forbid the landing of any of the emigrants within the precincts; but they recommended them to land and encamp near the town. This was objected to on account of the expence, and they were kept on board three days longer; at length those who could muster up a quarter of a dollar for each person, and eleven pence for each small parcel, got on shore. Their purses and health being exhausted they were lying about the streets, nor could any remonstrances produce the least activity either to disembark the remainder of these victims of avarice or to comfort those already landed; until two magistrates interfered. The owners then came forward and promised to take proper steps.

Among other deeds of horror is the following: a poor girl of decent parentage and good education was shipped on board this vessel to her friends in America. She was debauched and is with child. After taking all the money she had for passage she was here addressed to a noted brothel in this city. It is to be hoped that our magistrates in the cause of suffering humanity and innocence betrayed will enquire into these enormities and bring the guilty to condign punishment.

BALTIMORE, AUGUST 15.

We are enabled from good authority to contradict the report of the frigate Concord's being taken by the Thetis, as Mr. Hutton, of this town, on his passage from Bermuda, was on board the Thetis off our capes, on Wednesday morning last, and breakfasted with Capt. Cochran, who told him that the Concord had gone out to sea without falling in with him.

FAYETTEVILLE, AUGUST 8.

On Thursday the 4th inst. a great number of people met at Fair Plains, Laurel Hill, the residence of Duncan M'Farlane, Esq. of Richmond county, for the purpose of electing members of the assembly for said county; and likewise a member of congress for the district of Fayetteville. The sheriff did not make his appearance till half after five, P. M. when the elections began, and were conducted in a very confused and irregular manner—the shortness of the time prevented great numbers from voting at all. Both the candidates for congress were present. When the ballots closed the numbers stood—

The land is within five miles of several merchant mills, twenty eight miles from Frederickburg, sixty from Alexandria, and the same distance from George-Town and the Federal City, near two public roads leading to the back country.

Pursuant to a decree of the Court of the County of Westmoreland, to us directed, we will proceed to sell about ty acres of land upon a credit of twelve months, lying about a mile above Leeds town, upon Rappahannock River, on Tuesday 20th day of September next. The place was the residence of the late John Washington, Esq. known by the name of Liberty. The soil is very fertile, particularly for the production of Indian Corn, and profitable crops of small grain have been made upon it; very extensive marshes are near, and the place itself affords such improvable meadow ground that the proprietors may keep very large stock of all kind. There is on this plantation a good dwelling house with four rooms on the lower floor and two above, and out houses, and it abounds with fine springs. An accurate survey will be shown at the sale, and it will be required that the purchasers shall execute bonds for six equal sums payable to each of the distributors or their guardians who are entitled to the money arising from the sales.

Three hundred and eight
